

Manager, Project Finance

Nokomis Energy is a Minneapolis based energy developer with a mission to accelerate local energy adoption through equitable partnerships. Nokomis is seeking a Project Finance Lead to support creation of a platform that will be used by the Company's development teams to originate, develop, and finance a broad pipeline of projects. The Director will be responsible for updating, creating, and implementing processes to facilitate and streamline the development of the Company's clean energy projects.

Essential job functions include:

- Responsible for ensuring the company is able to secure development financing:
  - Work with the Development team to identify funding needs for development activities
  - Identify sources of financing and requirements
  - Manage the development team to deliver the requirements
  - Support the handoff from Origination to Development and from Development to Construction and Operations
- Responsible for identifying project buyers and transacting project sales:
  - Originate and manage relationship with potential buyers
  - Negotiate project sale pricing and requirements
  - Manage project sale diligence and closings
- Responsible for project valuation and pricing:
  - Work with the Origination team to provide project valuation, PPA pricing, and design-build proposal pricing
  - Provide project valuation expertise to inform company-wide strategic planning

Location: Minneapolis, Minnesota

Terms of Employment: Full-time, salary $60-100K+ based on performance

About Nokomis –

Our approach is predicated on creating value for all stakeholders involved in a project. We specialize in understanding the full development process from origination, to technology, to long-term operation. Our value comes from our principals having been active in energy development since 2007, in-market resources and partnership approach. Through a combination of development and consulting services we use distributed energy to deliver economic and social benefits to local communities.

Send resume and inquiries to:
connect@nokomisenergy.com